GEORGIA HIDEN CHARITABLE FOUNDATION

The Georgia Hiden Charitable Foundation was established by Miss Georgia Hiden, a highly educated woman and distinguished ballerina who performed for George Balanchine.

In addition to performing at Lincoln Center and other prestigious venues in New York City and around the world, Miss Hiden dedicated herself to teaching the art of dance to disadvantage children, frequently traveling to Harlem where she shared her knowledge and passion for the arts.

The trustees of Georgia Hiden Charitable Foundation endeavor to support 501(c) (3) organizations whose purpose embodies Miss Hiden's vision that every youngster, regardless of ethnicity, race, culture or economic circumstance should be given full opportunity to express and develop intellectual curiosity, academic achievement, enlightened moral compass and spiritual enrichment through participation in a broad range of educational activities including athletics and all artistic disciplines.
